PARISH COUNCIL

'Goxhill Parish Council have no objection to the above planning application, as outline permission has already been granted. However, they would like to express reservations about how development will affect the existing drainage and sewerage system. In addition, they would like the planning department to ensure that there is a safe means of access onto Ferry Road.'

ASSESSMENT

The applicant seeks planning permission to erect one detached bungalow with accommodation in the roof-space on land within the development boundary for Goxhill.

The main issues to be considered when determining this application are whether the development of this site would have an adverse impact on residential amenities and the character of the village, whether a safe access can be provided and whether the proposal would increase the risk of flooding.

The plot has a live outline planning permission for a dwelling (2007/1203) which is limited by condition to be of single-storey construction only, to protect the amenity of neighbours.

There is a bungalow to the north and to the south; these are staggered and constrain the site significantly due to the need to avoid overlooking, which rules out a two-storey house on this site and makes the siting of a dwelling sensitive.

The applicant has submitted plans for a bungalow with accommodation in the roofspace that would have only rooflights which would minimise overlooking to the neighbours' properties.

In relation to the development of the site for a dwelling, it is considered that this is an appropriate use of the site in planning terms. The site is within the development boundary and Goxhill is identified as a minimum growth settlement in the North Lincolnshire Local Plan.

The proposed bungalow would be in keeping with the neighbouring dwellings, which are both bungalows, and the design of the proposed dwelling would not be out of character with this part of the village.

The parish council raise a concern about access, however Highways do not object and the access is considered acceptable.

With regard to the issue of flooding, the site is located within zone 1 of the Strategic Flood Risk Assessment (SFRA). Within zone 1 it is not a requirement that the sequential or exceptions tests be applied. Therefore, in accordance with the SFRA, the development of this site for residential purposes is considered to be appropriate. The parish council have expressed concern about how the development will affect the existing drainage and sewerage system. However, consultation responses from the relevant bodies who deal with such matters have reported no specific problems of flooding in this area, and no formal objections have been received from either Anglian Water or the Environment Agency.

There are mature trees on the frontage of the site but these are not of such amenity value as to refuse planning permission and in any event an existing outline permission exists on this site and therefore the principle of development has been established.

Members will be aware of the decision to impose a moratorium on new housing development within Goxhill that was set following the flooding of June/July 2007. A report on this issue is likely to be brought before the committee at the March meeting following consultation with Anglian Water. However, as this site already has the benefit of an outline planning permission for a bungalow, there is no reason to delay this current application which is for the detailed design of the property to be built. The council has been advised by Anglian Water that it will shortly be in a position to set out what its intentions are with respect to improvements to the sewer infrastructure in the village. The precise details will be available within the next few weeks.

On balance, therefore, it is considered that the development of this site for one dwelling is acceptable.
